IS HE ORTHODOX?

The Rev. Mr. Lockwood, Who Said the World Could Not Have Been Made in Six Days.

From the New York Sun

A question has been raised in the Willis Street Baptist Church of Peterson, N. J., touching the orthodoxy of the pastor, the Rev. M. C. Lockwood. Mr. Lockwood, it seems, preached a sermon in which he is reported to have said that it was a physical impossibility, and the record of nature confirmed it, that the world could have been made in six days. He also, it is said, questioned the correctness of the stories that the sun and moon once stood still for the convenience of a few men who were fighting; that Jonah was swallowed by a whale, and that Balaan's ass spoke. The whole book of Job, he added, could only be looked upon as the translation of a poem, and it was nothing more than a literary creation. Many other of the miraculous episodes related in the Old Testament the pastor is alleged to have spoken of as simple allegories.

Some of the church members were taken by surprise, and some indignation prevailed. "What of the bible will the pastor leave us, anyhow?" they asked as they gathered in the vestibule at the close of the service. After various suggestions, they decided to call the deacons to account, and demand that the pastor be asked to resign. Two of the five deacons thought that he ought to be asked to resign, but the other three believed in giving him another chance, thinking that a simple admonition would be sufficient. So on the same evening the five deacons called upon the pastor, and remonstrated with him for the ground that he had taken in his sermon. The pastor denied that there was anything wrong with his orthodoxy. The deacons said both they and a majority of the congregation thought that there was. Mr. Lockwood agreed to leave the matter to a council of Christian minister to decide whether or not he had said anything that was not strictly orthodox. He thought that many another minister held the same views, but whether they would think it best, or would be brave enough to say so in the pulpit, was another thing. The deacons replied that all that might be so; the doctrine he preached might be strictly orthodox in the opinion of the clergy, but it did not suit the members of the Willis Street Baptist Church, and they did not want any more of it. The Rev. Mr. Lockwood has preached two or three sermons since, but they have been unexcep-tionably orthodox.

The Dresses Worn at Queen Victoria's Reception.

From the London Truth. — Lady Lonsdale was universally acknowledged as the beauty of both drawingrooms. Ladies were not less decolleté at this second drawingroom than at the first. One, in pressing forward, positively lost the whole upper portion of her dress, and had to be shrouded in shawls. Lord Beaconsfield, who seemed in high spirits, appeared this time in a diplomatic uniform.

As I was walking along St. James street on the morning of the drawing room, I observed a crowd surrounding a brougham. In it was seated a lady alone. Never have I in civilized society and in daylight seen a lady with so small an amount of clothing. Surely she might have covered her nakedness with a shawl. The coromant people, who do not penetrate within the charmed portals of St. James' Palace, stared at her with astonishment, and one somewhat dingy-looking individual suggested that she ought to be suppressed as a "vixen."

THE COMSTOCK.

Many people have an idea that more money has gone into the Comstock lode than has been taken out of it. They are wrong. The Comstock has yielded something like $300,000,000, while the assessments foot up to $60,000,000. The dividends paid aggregate at least $120,000,000.

But the question now is not what the Comstock miners have done, but what will they do in future. Stockholders are getting impatient for more bonanzas. There has been no dividend now since January 12, when Ophir paid the last. The California and Gen. Virginia have paid nothing since last December. Very little bullion is being produced and the yield is confined to four mines.

Although the prospect is not at present bright, there have been days in the history of the Comstock much darker than these. The whole Comstock was selling for less than $5,000,000 just before the Crown Point and Belcher bonanzas were discovered in 1870. Five years afterwards the market value of the same shares exceeded $271,000,000. By May of 1877 they had fallen nearly to $10,000,000.

In the last three years the assessments paid on the Comstock shares amount to over $20,000,000. The bullion produced for the same period exceeds $62,000,000. Looking at the Comstock as a whole, in the light of a vast mine, it has proved a good property. Whether it will continue remunerative remains to be seen.

EXACT NO PLEDGES.

The time is near when Republicans in Washoe county must put the result of their investigation and study on the candidate question into a ballot box. Another week of indecision and discussion remains.

We have endeavored to show by hard facts and reasonable arguments that neither Grant nor Blaine would be the best man for the party. We might have won more applause by taking sides with either of these candidates, but temporary applause is no object. There are better men than either, and the convention of Chicago will find one. Voting for Grant or Blaine in that convention will be like hitting a stone wall. Every vote cast for either will be opposed as solidly as a rock by the friends of the other. To send a plodding delegation into a body like that is to destroy what little chance Nevada has for usefulness. We hope there will be no suicidal struggle at the primaries or the convention, but let the men selected be good ones, and then let them be guided by their duty, as circumstances may point it out.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is said that this year the four great planets will reach their nearest point to the sun more nearly together than they have for 2,000 years. This conjunction is expected to cause a solar disturbance, and the sun's face will be carefully watched for signs of internal agitation. It is believed that old Sol will be visibly affected by the combination of these planets to pull against him all together, and that he will make it hot for us this summer.

The prediction is made that linen dusters and lemonade will have an unprecedented demand this summer.

The Eureka Consolidated has purchased the whole of the K. K. mine. A big lawsuit was pending between the companies, which is thus terminated. The consideration mentioned is $220,000. The amount of surface ground purchased is not very large, but increases very considerably on the dip of the ledge. The Eureka Consolidated possibly 2,000 feet of ground at a depth of 8,000 feet.

The Winnemucca Silver Stats is one of those exchanges whose wrapper we never fail to remove. There is always "something in it." The Silver Stats is an excellent little newspaper, and we don't say so because it has just commenced its sixteenth volume, but because it merits praise.

It looks as if the Eureka Goldsmith were a failure. A gentleman visited Menlo Park in behalf of the Boston Journal, and reports that all except two or three of the paper carbon lamps have been taken down, and that Euliss admitted that they had been destroyed.

The liberals will have to call their own way in the British Parliament. So far as returns are in, the Liberals have 220 members against 191 Conservatives and 39 Home Rulers. The two latter forces combined cannot prevail against them.

The last number of the State Line Herald contains an editorial which gives some idea of what nihilism is. In this connection we may mention, that the Herald does not, that the article referred to was copied from the GAZETTE.

Many newspaper offices are being closed up and editors arrested in Russia, by order of the Government. It begins to look as though the position of a journalist in St. Petersburg were getting as dangerous as that of the Czar.

Sherman's speech is a document which will make every man advocating his nomination proud of the work he is engaged in.—New York Tribune.

Secretary Sherman is said to believe that he will be nominated at Chicago. He is convinced that he will have the support of the Ohio delegation.

Says the Silver State: The Lucky Dog mining company made their first billion shipment this week from ore worked at the Eagle mill. The shipment consisted of three bars, the value of which we could not ascertain, though it is said the ore paid a clear profit of $16 a ton over all expenses.

The Southern California papers are discussing the question of a new State. The Santa Barbara Press thinks that when the new State is formed it ought to be called "Los Angeles," while the Express of Los Angeles, not to outdo in courtesy, suggests "Barbaria" as euphonious.

Says the Sierra Delta: While heading stock near Glendale, the first of the week, B. F. Redfield met with a painful and nearly fatal accident. He was riding horseback, when the horse ran away, and while the horse was purched, and rendered sweet and fragrant. It is composed of rare antiseptic herbs and is entirely free from the objectionable and injurious ingredients of Tooth Pastes, &c.

Says the Idaho Avalanche: The wife of Thomas Crane was frozen to death near Blackfoot over two weeks ago. Both lost their way in the storm while journeying across the country and Crane, too, had a narrow escape from perishing. A man named Robinson was also frozen to death, recently, some miles from Adams.

Speaking of the Sacramento Valley, the Record-Union says: The recent warm rains have sent the life fluids into the branches of trees, and they are now striving to make up lost time, and with a fair prospect of success, though they are nearly month behind. Apple and pear trees are white with blossoms, rose-buds are forming, and a refreshing fragrance of flowers can be detected in the atmosphere.
